VIRTUAL USERS

Virtual Users:

Virtual user is a common terminology used from a performance testing point of view. A Virtual user generator enables testers to create virtual users in order to increase the user load on the application under test.

Virtual user generator captures the requests to create a virtual user and it can read user operations.